Tell us what you think...

The City of Kirkland is hosting an open house to present the 2011 Emergency Sewer Program (ESP). The Project consists of installing new sewer main and side sewer stubs to properties currently served by septic systems. Presently, throughout the City, there are septic systems that have already failed or are having problems, and in most instances there is no available direct access to the City's existing sanitary sewer system.

The City currently is establishing areas to be included in the 2011 ESP, and will be presenting details about the Program, along with an initial cost estimate, to benefitting property owners.

The open house will be informal with visuals illustrating the areas considered for the proposed improvements. Staff will be available to answer your questions regarding costs associated with being a beneficiary, the construction process and to make a record of your comments. The goal of the Program is to begin construction in summer 2011.

If you are unable to attend, or would like more information before the open house, please contact Aaron McDonald, Project Engineer, at the number or e-mail listed below.

...we hope to see you there!
